The Carbon Crisis

Excessive carbon emissions are causing serious environmental problems that affect everyone on our planet.

Sea Level Rise

Melting ice caps and thermal expansion due to warming oceans are causing sea levels to rise, threatening coastal communities and ecosystems around the world.

Rising Global Temperatures

Carbon emissions trap heat in our atmosphere, causing global temperatures to rise at an alarming rate. This leads to more frequent and intense heatwaves, droughts, and extreme weather events.

Extreme Weather Events

Climate change is increasing the frequency and severity of hurricanes, floods, wildfires, and other natural disasters, leading to loss of life and billions in damage.
